

Greenberg & Co.
the business of law

PRINCIPAL OF THE FIRM

The principal of the firm, Daniel Greenberg, has been an operational executive, entrepreneurial business owner and turn-around consultant for close to three decades. As a result of these skills, he became a source of practical knowledge for startups, turnarounds, and high growth businesses. In his career, Mr. Greenberg had full profit and loss responsibility for no less than 15 businesses and led a number of complex turn around and workouts. As he frequently was asked to negotiate international business transactions, he gained more than a passing familiarity with overseas business practices, foreign asset protection structures and complex business formations. Using this knowledge of both business and asset protection, he leads the firm with a pragmatic view of the interaction between estate planning objectives and business solutions.

With degrees in Engineering (Bachelor of Engineering-Mechanical & Marine, SUNY Maritime College 1971), Finance (MBA University of Connecticut 1978) and Law (Quinnipiac University School of Law 1993) in association with executive management and his operational background, Attorney Greenberg along with his experienced staff provides a practical perspective to business challenges, asset protection and estate planning. Attorney Greenberg is well known in the Asset Protection Community. With a wide reaching network in most key jurisdictions, he can deliver solutions customized for the client, whether a personal asset protection problem or business solution.
